Will Honeymoon In Snowclad Hills

COEUR D'ALENE, Feb. 2. (AP)—Honeymooning in the snowclad hills of north Idaho are Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Griffin, who this week left Coeur d'Alene for the Deception Creek experiment station on the Coeur d'Alene national forest, where Griffin will serve as agricultural aide in charge of the forest service weather instruments, with Mrs. Griffin to share his isolated home.

The trip from Coeur d'Alene to the station was the last lap of a honeymoon trip which began at Owosso, Mich., following their January 20 wedding, and their mode of living at the station, oftentimes isolated by weeks at a time by deep snows, is a sudden change for both of them—a change in climates for Griffin, who spent the last three winters in the tropics with the army air corps, and a change from city to outdoor life for Mrs. Griffin, the former Helen Reeder of Owosso and East Lansing, Mich.

Griffin, now 25, became interested in forestry when he visited here with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Griffin, at Christmas time, and at that time accepted the Deception Creek job. Then he left for Michigan, his former home, and while visiting there he met, courted and married the attractive 22-year-old brunette secretary to the head of the electrical engineering department at Michigan State college at Lansing.

Forest roads were open this week and officials know that the couple made the trip to the station without incident. Regulations require that Griffin report out once each month, and, if the weather permits, the 30-mile route by road is easily traversed. However, if the roads are snow-blocked—and they often are—snowshoes are the only alternative, but when she left Coeur d'Alene Mrs. Griffin wasn't at all sure that a month's practice would make her expert enough for such a long trip.

W. BENZ DISCHARGED

William Benz, son of Mrs. Helen Benz, arrived this morning from Fort Lewis, Wash., where he was given his discharge from the army following more than three years' service. He was a technician fifth grade and served with the medical corps at New Caledonia, Guadalcanal, Okinawa and Japan. He was overseas 22 months and prior to that was at Bushnell General hospital, Brigham City, Utah, for 14 months. He has the good conduct ribbon, Asiatic Pacific ribbon, American theater ribbon, victory medal and one battle star. He plans to study diesel engineering.

R. A. M. MEETING

There will be a business meeting of Wallace chapter No. 9, Royal Arch Masons, at 7:30 p. m. Monday in the Masonic temple. Lunch will follow.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2. (AP)—Inflation fuel continued to spark the stock market today on its climb to another 15-year peak with steels and specialties leading a fairly active short session.

While many pivotals were more or less indifferent from the start, and gains in most cases were limited to small fractions, a few "blue chips" jumped several points. The pace quickened at intervals and transfers were around 1,000,000 shares. Quotations approaching the close were at or near the best generally.

Believe Burglar Killed Cafe Man

STITES, Feb. 2 (AP)—Witnesses at a coroner's inquest theorized that Alva H. Stalnaker, 58, may have been killed by someone attempting to rob the restaurant which Stalnaker operated.

The jury determined only that Stalnaker, whose body was found in his apartment in the restaurant yesterday, was killed by "a party or parties unknown."

Sheriff Bud Taylor said Stalnaker's body was found by a waitress reporting for work. The officer said the restaurant operator's chest was pierced just above the heart by a .45 caliber slug.

Witnesses at the inquest said a slot machine in the restaurant had been broken open, but none of the money appeared to have been taken.

SOCIAL HYGIENE DAY

BOISE, Feb. 2 (AP)—February 6 has been proclaimed national social hygiene day in Idaho by Governor Arnold Williams. The proclamation called for the study by individuals and groups of "existing social hygiene problems" and urged them to "increase efforts toward their full solution."

Vets Have More Time To Reenlist

SPOKANE, Feb. 2—A "break" has been given army veterans who need more time to "look around" before deciding whether to reenlist, Major Harold H. Haines, commanding officer of army recruiting headquarters on the second floor of the Welch Building, W-610 Main avenue, reminded today.

Under a new war department ruling, veterans may keep their "stripes" by reenlisting any time within three months after being discharged, provided they do so by June 30.

The same time limits hold for former commissioned, warrant and flight officers. These may enlist in the regular army as master or first sergeants provided they join up by June 30 and within three months after their release from active service.

Men discharged as privates, who have served six months and who reenlist within three months and by June 30, will be promoted to private first class.

Games Tonight

Sandpoint at Wallace.
Bonners Ferry at Kellogg.
Coeur d'Alene at St. Maries.

The Miners scored seven points in the last four minutes of the game and held Bonners Ferry scoreless to defeat the Badgers here last night 32-27.

The Miners were trailing, 25-27, at the half-way period in the final quarter when they started their rally. Edwards opened the fireworks when he scored on an out-of-bounds play from under the net. Johnson converted a free throw, Edwards scored on another out-of-bounds play and Larsen finished the scoring by pushing one in from the side.

The Miners kept possession of the ball most of the time in the last four minutes with a nice display of passing.

The locals started fast, weakened and allowed Bonners to take the lead, and then perked up.

The Wa-Hi cagers made the score 6-2 early in the first period, but the Badgers tied the score, only to see Wallace creep ahead, 9-6, at the end of the first period. Playing the locals off their feet, the Badgers took a 13-11 lead in the second quarter, but two goals by Edwards and Hendrix in the final moments of the first half gave the Miners a 15-13 lead at intermission.

The lead see-sawed back and fourth in the third quarter and at the end Bonners held a 23-22 lead. They made this read 27-23 before Johnson, Wallace guard who was injured in the third quarter, returned to the game. With the sparkplug guard back in the lineup the Miners took new life and Hendrix looped one in from the side to make the score 25-27 at the rest period in the last quarter.

Failure of Bonners to score from the free throw line cost them the game, as they converted only five of 18 free throws. The Miners made good half of their 16 gift shots.

The Miners, however, were missing the hoop otherwise. They tried 67 shots from the floor and made only 12 good.

The Wallace junior high team defeated the Osburn juniors, 22-5, in the preliminary.

Three Tie For Lead In Coast Cage Loop

(By the Associated Press)

Three collections of basketball sharpshooters, representing Washington, Oregon State and Idaho, shared honors today in the northern division, and California was hot behind the University of Southern California in the southern loop of the Pacific Coast conference.

California's Golden Bears subdued the UCLA Bruins, 50 to 37, last night and, if they repeat tonight, will match the conference record of Southern California.

University of Washington was leading the northern division until the Oregon Webfoots dropped the Huskies, 57 to 56, into the three-way tie for first place. The triumph left Oregon only half a game behind in the free-for-all for the lead.

The two teams will meet again tonight on the Eugene floor.

Red Cochrane Loses Title To Servo

NEW YORK, Feb. 2 (AP)—Along bash boulevard, the boulevardiers were wondering today if the rest of the war-frozen beak-busting champions could expect the same uncivil treatment served up to Freddie (the Red) Cochrane, who kept the world welterweight crown on the shelf for four years and 187 days—and lost it in exactly 11 minutes and 54 seconds.

It took charging Marty Servo, who climbed all over the Jersey redhead until he practically raised lumps on him, just that long to knock the roof in on Freddie last night in Madison Square Garden. With Joe Louis slated to put his heavyweight crown on the line against Billy Conn in June, and such nose-mashing bosses as light-heavy Gus Lesnevich and middleweight Tony Zale due to take on all comers without too much delay, the folks naturally figured there was more than an outside chance they might get some more of the same.

Eight Will Compete In Ski Tournament

Eight members of the Idaho Ski club will compete in an Intermountain Ski Council tournament tomorrow at Chewelah, the first of three tournaments planned for the season.

Competing tomorrow will be Bruce Berg and Don Conley in class A, John Harrington, Ron Johnson and Louis Berrichoa in class B, Bill Erickson and Walter Frank Jr., in class C and Mary Alice Peel in the women's division.

The next tournament, February 17, will be held on Lookout summit.

SANDPOINT HERE TONIGHT

The Wallace Miners will seek to avenge another defeat — they did avenge one last night—when they meet Sandpoint here at 8 o'clock tonight.

ances against his superiors. He was permitted to give slangy expression to every gripe a soldier has had about "the boss" since the beginning of warfare, although it developed that his own service was extremely limited and unheroic.

But the august legislators filed past him at the conclusion of his testimony begging for the honor to shake his hand. They paid him greater tribute than they gave "Ike" Eisenhower on his several appearances before congressional bodies.

WALKOUT The scene struck the public as humorous and sportsmanlike. It is probable that every private and noncom in the army shared the witness' thrill. But it did not set well with the objects of the G. I.'s criticism. In many other ways the men who wear the stars and bars feel that they have been humiliated, neglected and shoved around.

In themselves these supposed slights are not important, perhaps, except to the individual officers. But to men toying with the idea of carving a career in either of the services, they combine to create the impression that the army or navy in peacetime is not a good lifetime investment.

There are even more fundamental factors behind the exodus of officers from active or even reserve duty. The proposed merger of the forces may lessen their chances of advancement, specially in the navy. Adoption of universal military training may have the same effect, for well-trained mass armies should reduce the need for general officers.

Last, there is the repercussion which the atom bomb may have on our national defense establishment. Future tests of that weapon may demonstrate that there is no future in the army, navy or any allied profession.

"Brass hat" griping may seem only a petty and personal matter to most folks, and perhaps it is. But the prospective walkout is no joke to General Eisenhower, Admiral Nimitz and General Henry H. Arnold, chief of the air forces.

BACKGROUND It is no secret around Washington that many of President Truman's troubles flow from his enforced reliance upon indiscreet, inept or inexperienced advisers. He frequently voices mild irritation that his attempts to persuade more able figures to serve the government end in failure.

A typical instance of this sort of needless difficulty occurred when he delegated Camuel I. Rosenman, who joined the White House staff as a special legal adviser to the late President Roosevelt, to draft an executive order defining the power of the Pearl Harbor investigators.

Minority members wanted the right to confer with some of the Pearl Harbor principals in the army, navy and state departments to obtain a richer background for questioning witnesses. They also needed to inform themselves on many unknown details. But when they tried to interview certain officials, the latter refused to talk or to open their files.

REVERSAL The president signed the Rosenman draft without studying it carefully. To his amazement a few days later, he discovered that the former New York judge had made it almost impossible for the investigating congressmen to do any personal sleuthing beforehand. Under the Rosenman directive they could browse through executive departments only if they had received the authorization of the full committee by a formal vote.

Mr. Truman was chagrined when he learned of the blunder. He was forced to repudiate the Rosenman scheme publicly and promptly, a reversal which embarrassed him. He gave permission for the individual investigators to talk with anybody, but denied them the right to comcandeer any official papers without committee authorization.—Copyright McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

Sun Spots Jam Radio Channels

LONDON, Feb. 2 (AP)—Short wave radio channels were jammed today by hissing noises caused by a group of sun spots which scientists estimated covered an area of 3,500,000,000 square miles on the sun's surface.

Big enough to be seen by the naked eye and 70 times the size of the earth, the spots will pass from view, due to the sun's rotation, about February 11, according to calculations made at the royal observatory at Greenwich.

Although intensely bright, the spots appeared as shadows on the sun's surface.
